

Bad Co Nation Band Bios

Lead Guitar / Background Vocals: Hailing from Southern California, Charlie Norrie is a veteran of the Los Angeles club scene and is Bad Co Nation's band leader. Focusing on classic rock, hard rock, and Metal genres, Charlie's influences include Jimi Hendrix, Led Zeppelin, Stevie Ray Vaughn, and — of course — Bad Company.

Lead Vocals / Percussion: Mike Vaughn was trained by acclaimed vocal coach, Don Lawrence while living in his hometown of Brooklyn, NY. In addition to Paul Rodgers, Mike's influences include Paul Stanley, Robert Plant, Sebastian Bach, and Ray Gillan. Additionally, Mike's lead vocals and songwriting are featured on three album releases from the band Dayride Ritual.

Drums / Percussion: Mitch Sitrin's influences include Neil Peart, John Bonham, and Mike Portnoy. While living in New York City — his home town — Mitch had a wonderful experience meeting the legendary Buddy Rich, which inspired him to pursue his musical career as a professional drummer. Prior to moving to Las Vegas, Mitch played throughout New York City at CBGB's, China Club, Rutgers University, and many more.

Fretless Bass / Background Vocals: A former member of both the New Mexico Symphony Orchestra and Epic Record's Redbone, Eddie Two Moons has built up a massive resume of performance dates since arriving in Las Vegas. Eddie's credits include working with Dony Wynn (Robert Palmer), and Jake E. Lee (Ozzy).

Keyboards / Guitar / Percussion / Background Vocals: From the northwest suburbs of Chicago, Robert Anthony is a respected multi instrumentalist, musical director, and published author of several music books. Robert's credits include Gene Simmons, The Howard Stern Show, and A&E Television, among many more.
